When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with a twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat trouble. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood attacks the root of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to serious complications.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, catarrhal bronchitis, and other forms of throat disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Bush Makes a Promise

Not to Drive Auto For Six Months—Otherwise He Would Have Had to Go to Jail—Pays $150 Fine—Boyd's Bail Forfeited.

At the last term of the county court Judge Joseph M. Fowler announced that in the future offenders who were brought before him charged with driving a motor car while intoxicated would be dealt with in a manner which would stamp the crime from the county. At the last term of court fines were imposed on those who were found guilty and a jail sentence was imposed but suspended during good behavior.

In county court Tuesday afternoon Hilram Bush of this city was the first offender to come under the new provisions of the court. Mr. Bush pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned. Bush who was born in the town of Marbletown said that he had never been convicted before and that in a measure caused the court to be somewhat lenient. However the court imposed a fine of $150 which was paid and then gave defendant his choice of actually spending 90 days in the county jail or taking a six months' sentence in jail, the full sentence being suspended provided Bush promised not to operate a motor car for six months. It is needless to say he took the six months. He promised not to operate a car during that time and on that condition the serving of the time was suspended.

Benjamin and Joseph Sandler of New York who were indicted by the grand jury on two charges, that of grand larceny, second degree and criminally receiving stolen goods were arraigned in court and entered pleas of not guilty. It is alleged that the young men removed a tire, tube and rim from a car in the vicinity of Pine Hill on September 1, 1923. Chris Flanagan appeared for the defendants. Cash bail was continued.

Thomas Ryan, an ex-soldier who was injured during the World War and who was sent to this city by the government to learn the automobile business with the George J. Schryver Motor Car Company, and who pleaded guilty to driving a car while intoxicated when arraigned in court last fall, has made restitution as directed by the court with the exception of $15. As a part of the sentence Ryan was directed to make restitution in a certain sum. The original sentence as imposed by the court was vacated and a modified sentence was imposed. Since that time Ryan has been transferred to work by the government and is now working. District Attorney Traver stated that as Ryan had been making the payments as directed by the court he would ask that the case be held over until the next term of court to give Ryan an opportunity to complete the payment. Ryan had been given until this term of court to complete making payments. The court extended the time and held the matter open until next term of court in order to give Ryan a chance.

George Miner who pleaded guilty to larceny in stealing a box of dresses from Mr. Abrahamson of Rondout at Saugerties was in a similar case. He had been directed to make restitution in the sum of $50 to Abrahamson. All of this amount except $10 has been paid and Grant M. Brininger who appeared for Miner stated that his client was not at present engaged as the brickyard was closed for a time and had been unable to make full payment but would do so as soon as possible. Mr. Brininger offered to advance the $10 to complete the payment if the court so desired. Mr. Traver stated that under the circumstances he was willing to extend the time and allow defendant to make the other payment before the next term of court. The case consequently was held over to the next term of court.

William Boyd who was charged with assault and carrying a weapon without a license failed to put in an appearance. He had put up cash bail. Mr. Flanagan last week sent notice to the two persons who had provided the bail to produce Boyd in court. They were unable to locate him, it being understood that he had gone to Philadelphia. At that time the bail was declared forfeited unless Boyd was produced in court on Tuesday at 2 o'clock. The two persons who provided the bail have been unable to locate Boyd and the order forfeiting the bail was made final. Mr. Flanagan stated that he had endeavored to locate his client without success.

Court then adjourned to chambers.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, Jan. 30.—Tuesday evening, January 23, was a gala night for Vanderlyn Council, Daughters of America, in Kingston, for at that time their deputy state counselor, Mrs. R. H. Decker, of this place duly installed the officers. The occasion was one of much pleasure and noted as one of the happy events of 1924. She expressed her hearty appreciation of the honor conferred upon her as their deputy and expects a happy and prosperous year. There were about 80 present. At their next meeting they will initiate some candidates. Two members of Vanderlyn Council acted as marshal and associate marshal. The team escorted state officer and deputies and all were received and welcomed by the councilor. The work was impressively and conscientiously done with dignity and interest. The state officer was called upon and the gems of thought which she gave the members, with the humor which she is noted for, was much appreciated. At the close of her remarks Mrs. Tobey, a past councilor and deputy, presented to Mrs. Decker a large box of beautiful carnations as a token of esteem, to which she responded very cleverly. A delegation from this place accompanied the deputy and there was a large delegation from Saugerties. Remarks were made by members of visiting orders. A substantial collation was served, which was a credit to the committee in charge. The menu consisted of potato salad, pickles, ham sandwiches, brick pie cream, home made cake and coffee. After visiting, all left for their homes with pleasant memories of Vanderlyn, No. 41.

H. E. Wilcox, who has been sick for a few days, is improving at present. All hope he will soon be out again.

Mrs. J. P. Whitley has been in New York city on business recently. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Harrington gave a dinner, Saturday evening. Among the guests present were the Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Coons and son, Sheldon.

Miss Bossie DuBois has returned from a very delightful visit with Dr. and Mrs. B. A. Reynolds at New Paltz.

Mrs. Emma Decker was a recent guest of friends in Newburgh and New Paltz.

Miss Lena Wesner is visiting in Dover Plains with Mr. and Mrs. Otto Johnson.

Captain and Mrs. R. H. Decker entertained at their guests the past week Harold Mackey of Williamsport, Pa., and Arthur Decker of Westchester, N. Y.

Mr. Zimmerman, father of Mrs. Clarence Eiling, is spending the winter in California.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Feeter will leave February 13 for the south. Many from here have the southern fever.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wood and children have been visitors in Mr. Vernon.

Mrs. Scharr of White street was given a surprise, Friday evening, January 25, by Queen Esther people. She moved Monday to Poughkeepsie. There were a good many attended and had a fine social time. They presented her with a picture by which she might remember her Highland friends. They had the usual refreshments which all appreciated.

Tempo Quartet of Poughkeepsie, assisted by Robert Flagler, accompanist, gave a very fine concert in the M. E. Church Monday evening to a large, appreciative audience. This was their second concert here.

Lloyd Plass was in Hudson the past week, also New York city, on business.

The Rev. Foster A. Coons gave two grand sermons Sunday in the M. E. Church.

January 30, chicken supper in St. Augustine's Church from 6 to 8 p. m. dancing afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhodes of Milton avenue had as their guests the past week Mr. and Mrs. Donald Randall of Tarrytown.

The club supper and sale will be held on Friday evening, February 22, Washington's Birthday. The sale is under supervision of Mrs. D. N. Knitz, the entertainment under Mrs. J. W. Feeter's direction, the supper the fine feature. Mrs. J. P. Whitley is chairman with an efficient corps of workers, so the inner man will be well looked after. All arrangements will be completed Friday, February 1, at club meeting at home of Mrs. J. R. Seaman.

Thursday, January 24, the remains of Mrs. F. S. Decker of Coxsack were interred in the family plot in Highland cemetery. Funeral services were held at the home early Thursday morning. She and her husband resided on Vineyard avenue for a few years. From here they moved to Catskill, from there to Coxsack. She is survived by her husband, three sisters, one daughter, two sons, who are in business in Catskill. The floral emblems were many and very handsome from relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Martin have been entertaining Frank Grobe of Catskill, father of Mrs. Martin. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Johnson of Dover Plains were recent guests of Mrs. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ehrickson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Fisher and son Elmer, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Martin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schuble, Miss L. Martin and Mrs. J. Hickok were in Marlborough recently, attending some gay festivities.

Adonai Lodge, F. & A. M., met Monday evening. The Fellowship degree was conferred on a class and a very interesting session was held. A social concluded the evening.

Test Yourself for Straight Thinking

(Warning: Don't look at the picture until you have read the directions.)
Have you a keen mind that can think logically? If you have, you can prove it by submitting to this mental test.

This test requires that you be able to look at what is happening and judge from that what has happened and what will happen.

Here are the directions: Each group of pictures represents a particular series of events. Show the order in which the pictures in the set should appear to tell the happening as it occurred, numbering each picture with a figure, 1, 2, or 3, according to where it should come in the group.

The time allowed is two minutes. Get ready! One, two, three, go!

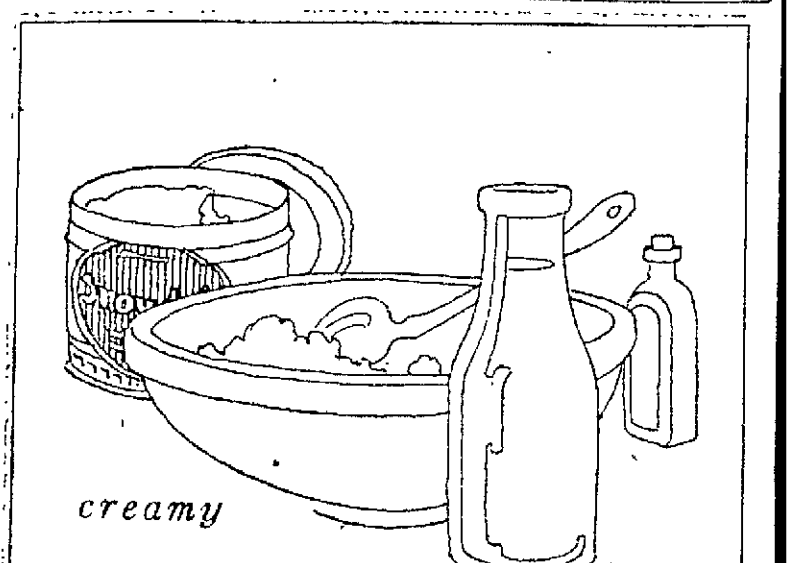

How well did you do?

Answers: First set, 3, 2, 1; second set, 3, 2, 1; third set, 2, 1, 3.

Tea Gowns Are of Distinctive Styles

Many Models in New Type of Garment; Made of Dainty Chiffon.

When women live the hurried life of the present, rushing from one engagement to another, many different sorts of dress are required. So much of fashionable life is spent in public that the designers, especially those of the older authority and regime, have a problem before them in dressing the woman who wishes to lead. Yet, observes a fashion correspondent in the New York Times, the fever that sends the restless younger set and the swifter set into the open and under the night lights seems somewhat to have spent itself. There is coming to be more relaxation and a greater number of occasions of ease in which beautiful dress is a joy and a comfort. The stiff and handsome brocades—metal and silk and splendidly oriental—have become the materials for dinner and dance and other formal occasions. The cream-colored fabrics—the chiffons and milles and gauzes—come into their own for gowns more intimate.

The salon, even its American expression, affords to a hostess the most inviting opportunity to wear one of the artistic creations in which every mode of dress is possible and expressing a formality and grace that is established on no other occasion. A feeling for this phase of dress is expressed by the best artists, some of whom find their matter to be in creating the softer and more subtle type of gown.

Anticipating the increased demand among women of fashion for the tea gowns of distinctive style, the couturiers of Paris have sent some models that are offered and copied in many delightful versions. This new type is more soft and lovely and subtle than anything in gowns that has been seen. It is all of chiffon—delicate, dainty and sweetly beautiful. The models are many, and all of them are engaging. One, a Dresden china composition, has a foundation of novelty lace in soft cream. This drops rather straight over the slip of pale yellow, which is of a somewhat deeper shade than "corn." Then, as the long draperies are arranged from neck to hem, they trail off several inches on the floor.

The outer garment is a sleeveless coat of beige chiffon, with bands of beige-tinted lace bordering each side of the front. Coats of different shades are provided to wear over this foundation, graduating from deep to lighter yellow and to cream. One of the "coats" is trimmed with sable across the neck at the back and extending to the hem at each side and around the bottom.

Gown in Black and White.
A formal tea gown that most surprisingly fills the picture is expressed in striking black and white and is made of the richest material. Upon the essential slip of soft white satin, which serves as a foundation, is built the gown. Two panels of white chiffon brocade form the front and back. These are caught in at the belt line on each side to form a semi-fitting garment.

A slip-on coat is of black Spanish lace, falling in a short train at the back and slipper length in front. The gown's foundation is cut decollete, the edges being high at the back and open at the front, and the lace edges the garment to the bottom. Sleeves are formed with widths of black chiffon sewn into the lace at the arms and falling straight to the hem of the gown. A collar of black fox fur finishes the neck at the back of the neck.

One model, charming, modish and contrasting strikingly with the black-while tea gown, is all neutral in color scheme. It is one of these half-clinging, half-floating types of gown that are always spoken of as "daintily feminine." Poetic, it is and lovely they certainly are.

One of the most enchanting of these gowns has a coat of pale blue chiffon over a gown of French flowers—a rosebud and a sprig of forget-me-nots, with a touch of green. The coat sleeves are of the same material, straight widths over the shoulders, falling over the arms which they cover with charming delicacy to the wrist.

Like a beautiful fuchsia is a tea gown that is made after the usual lines and of chiffon in all the colors of the exotic flower. Purple, magenta and orchid are draped, and blended, and the rose tint of a satin slip glows faintly through.

Charming New French Robe.
Elaborate and regal is a new French robe d'intérieur. Its foundation is of white satin. Over this is worn a tunic, pointed to the toe in front and trailing in the back, of black and gold brocade chiffon in large design. Black chiffon forms a drape and sleeves falling from the line of the neck at the back and from the arm at the sides in square lengths to the floor.

Orchid-like is an entrancing robe, one of the most artistic shown this season, in flower shades of chiffon over satin in the palest pink. In one shop that features tea gowns and lovely things for home wear is a model in hydrangea-blue gauze, veiling pale rose, and these over silk of a rose shade still more faint. A narrow collar of sable at the back fastens a cape of exquisite cream-colored lace, which falls to the waistline over the sheer material that floats softly into a train.

With the renewed popularity of the formal tea gown, individual taste is expressed in some truly gorgeous affairs. Conventionally, the gown should be something soft and graceful and as dainty as thistle-down. But the greatest license is evident in the designs offered by some artists of prominence, and obviously these designs appeal to some of their patrons.

A model sent by one of the best known couturiers of Paris might easily be worn for a ball gown. It is of chiffon velvet in a shade known as old blue, made entrain straight from the neck, banded with sable, and opening over a princess slip of rich Chinese embroidery, done in many colors on white satin.

Another of these regal "gowns" is made of metal brocade, silver and blue, in a straight tube-like princess dress, with the popular "coat" very long at the back, and cut to the bottom of the gown in front. This has angel sleeves and is cut wide. The narrow brown fur with which the coat is finished all around makes a gown of much distinction.

For those who prefer the heavier, richer materials, metal brocades, velvet or fur, there are many splendid models. But the feeling of most women is for the more flattering weaves. These may be made as costly as one desires, especially in the introduction of rare lace and embroidery and in the use of that most delicious of the new fabrics, chiffon velvet brocade, which may be had in all the delicate colors.

Demand for Fancy Articles.

The fad for trimming, elaborating, ornamenting everything possible, has established a market for a great variety of fancy articles. These departments in the dress shops have grown amazingly in past months, and a lively imagination is needed to keep pace with the novel ideas. In long, brightly lighted cases are pretty flowers, figures, sprays, tiny wreaths and trailing garlands, made of ribbon in delicate colors and tinsel; butterflies, birds—bluebirds, hummingbirds, even parrots and birds of paradise, all to be sewn on lingerie.

Trimming by the yard is of any and every sort. Among the newest fancies are the Russian, Czechoslovak and Swedish embroideries in the gayer colors and sturdier designs. The Egyptian designs in colored silks and beads are made in motifs and band trimming to be used in lieu of much more expensive needlework on blouses, gowns, wraps, on bags and many other small accessories.

Fringe, wide or narrow, silk, metal, chenille or bead, is shown in the place, and is seen on some of the exclusive French models of gowns and wraps, especially negligees and tea gowns. After the universal rage of fringe two seasons ago it was quite "out." Then the craze for Spanish shawls brought a reminder of its siren gracefulness, and now some of the latest gowns from Paris shimmer with the silken lines of fringe from shoulder to hem.

Har Lucky Number.
Mrs. Wigton was convinced that the lucky figure of her life was seven. "It's quite extraordinary," she said, "how seven has dominated my life. I was born on the seventh day of the month, and had seven sisters." "Married on a seventh?" asked her friend. "Well, I was married on June 28—really, but it's still a seven—seven times four. And only yesterday I had an enormous bit of luck." "Surely," said her friend, "yesterday was the thirtieth?" "Oh, yes. Isn't it wonderful? The seven again. You see, seven and six are thirteen. aren't they?"

MacDonald a Fast Worker

His Activity in Renewing French Entente and Tackling Other Foreign Problems Astounds Brit- ishers.

By Telegram to The Freeman
London, Jan. 30.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald, head of Great Britain's new labor government, has made overtures to France for renewal and strengthening of the entente cordiale, it was learned this afternoon.

"The new cabinet's action comes in the face of accusations by Laborite leaders that France is militaristic and is sowing the seeds of future discord in Europe.

Unusual speed is being made by the Labor cabinet in dealing with domestic and foreign problems. Those tackled so far include:

1. Domestic strike troubles.
2. Housing shortage.
3. Unemployment.
4. Reparations and debts.
5. Recognition of Russia.
6. Disputes with France.

Premier MacDonald and Premier Poincare, of France, have exchanged letters, the former stating that the differences between the two countries are causing unrest and should be settled without delay. Great Britain, MacDonald said, is willing to meet France half way in solving the problems troubling the two powers.

Premier Poincare immediately replied in a conciliatory tone opening the way for a conference.

As MacDonald holds both posts of premier and foreign secretary, it is probable that he would be one of the British delegates attending any Anglo-French conference that may be arranged.

It is understood that MacDonald's note was couched in general terms but made plain England's willingness to discuss a new security pact with France.

The cabinet has not given up the idea of a general conference of European powers and the United States on war debts and reparations. The premier evidently believes that France would be more likely to participate if the entente cordiale were renewed.

The activity which the premier-foreign secretary is showing in settling home and foreign problems is astounding friends and enemies alike. While finding time to deal with Russia and France he is seeking to placate Ulster and the Irish Free State in their boundary dispute.

Picture Exhibit at School 5

On February 12 to 15 there will be held at School No. 5, Wynkoop Place, a picture exhibit of unusual interest. It will consist of two hundred large carbon photographs, photogravures, prints in colors, etc., loaned by the Elson Art Publication Company, Inc., of Belmont, Mass.

The exhibition, it is announced, contains only the very best representations of the masterpieces of the world from the time of the early Greek and Roman artists down to the present day artists. Originals of these pictures are in many parts of the world and many galleries would have to be visited before seeing every picture in this collection.

After deducting the expenses of the exhibit the proceeds will be used to purchase pictures for the rooms and corridors of the school. The purpose of the exhibit is not only to buy pictures for the school but also to give the people an opportunity to see a collection of the world's famous masterpieces of painting, sculpture and architecture and to encourage and foster the study of art appreciation.

Savings Deposits Show Big Gain

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 30.—America is getting thriftier and thrifter, despite the modern day diatribes against extravagance.

This was shown today by an official report of the Federal Reserve Board showing that savings deposits increased $570,000,000 or 9.1 per cent during 1923. Savings accounts in 582 representative banks increased from $6,336,928,000 to $6,913,352,000.

Even in spite of the annual orgy of spending during the Christmas season savings deposited increased nearly two per cent during December. "No Federal Reserve district showed a decrease in savings deposits during the month of December," the statement said. "The greatest increase was 3.7 per cent in the Philadelphia district."

The New York district led in savings deposits January 1, with $1,923,763,000, while Boston was second with $1,217,267,000.

Savings deposits in other federal reserve districts were given as follows: Philadelphia, $480,131,000; Cleveland, $461,948,000; Richmond, $293,193,000; Atlanta, $226,271,000; Chicago, $200,903,000; St. Louis, $134,823,000; Minneapolis, $92,406,000; Kansas City, $107,720,000; Dallas, $91,622,000; San Francisco, $80,205,000.

Davis Ill.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Geneva, Jan. 30.—Norman Davis, of the United States, who was appointed head of the international commission that will adjust the differences of Lithuania and Poland over the future status of Memel, is ill with the grip today. The attending physician said his condition was not serious.

First Umbrella Shocked Residents of Windsor

When we trip forth on a rainy day beneath a wide-spreading umbrella, secure in the feeling that our best bonnet will not be ruled by errant rain drops, we do not think we are doing anything eccentric or modern. To be sure, an umbrella is neither modern nor eccentric, so far as the present-day meanings of the words are concerned. But the umbrella is, nevertheless, comparatively modern, when we consider that it is less than 200 years old.

Among old Colonial records in New England there is an indignant account of the atrocious actions of a society belle of Windsor, Conn. It seems that the fair damsel walked forth upon a rainy day, bearing above her haughty head an umbrella that had been brought to her from the West Indies. The good townspeople, shocked and dismayed at such frivolity, thronged about her, open-mouthed, and, to show their disapproval, hoisted their large sleeves on long spoon handles, and followed her with ridiculous, mincing steps.

In 1797 there was but one umbrella in Cambridge, Mass., and the owner of it made many a good penny renting it out by the hour to cautious persons who happened to be caught out in the rain. The reason why umbrellas were so slow to become generally adopted probably was because people of means did not travel on foot, so had not great need of umbrellas, and those without means did not possess clothing so fine that it must be protected from the rain. Women carried umbrellas long before men could deign to adopt them. It was considered effeminate and rather below the dignity of the hardy man to go about under the shelter of a flimsy umbrella.

When Act Is Praiseworthy.
Whatever is done without ostentation, and without the people's being witnesses of it, is more praiseworthy.

Stone Rot's When Sick

Sound through the years in their own country air, many different kinds of freestones soon suffer if removed to another climate or to cities. Painswick stone, for instance, beautiful and durable on the Cotswolds of England, became sick and sorry looking when introduced into the fabric of Westminster Abbey.

Other varieties of stone are sensitive to change, also. Bath stone has been used for centuries for building in England, but Bath stone is delicate, and falls a victim to disease in bad air. It is obtained more or less like coal from underground galleries rather than from quarries, and it must not be brought to the surface in winter or it will not weather hard. It must be nursed and matured before it is used, and unless it is set the right way of the grain it will not wear.

Got His Dates Mixed

A friend from out of town called at my office and invited me to lunch. The conversation led to subjects of family, health and so on. My friend asked how old I was. I said I was forty-two, though I am sixty-two. "Well," he replied, "you look about forty-two."

Each of us knew the other was lying, but, of course, there were no accusations. About two weeks later we met again, and lunched together. He studied for a moment, and then said: "You're a cheerful liar, John, and the youngest father I've ever known. You must have been about three when your son was born."

KINGSTON, N. Y., JAN. 30, 1924.

Mr. Underwood proposes a reaffirmation by this year's Democratic National Convention of the resolution against the "Know-Nothings" adopted by the same party's national convention in 1856, holding that the old resolution applies directly to the Ku Klux Klan. Undoubtedly the Klan boasts policies that are reminiscent of the old "Know Nothing" or American party.

When presented to King George in the morning Ambassador Kellogg wore evening clothes because he could not "dress" in any other way. It must have been a rather startling spectacle, but it could not be helped. The objection to "court dress" for American Ambassadors is still invincible, particularly out in the free open spaces of the West where cowboys wear sheepskin on their legs and tie their necks with red handkerchiefs.

It is stated that the Confederate memorial sculptures on the smooth side of Stone Mountain, Georgia, which Borglum and his helpers have been working on for eight years, will not be completed for years to come. It is easy to believe it as we read that the figure of General Lee will be "as high as a sixteen-story building," that the great Sphinx of Egypt "could be hidden behind General Lee's head," and that the nostrils of Lee's horse will be "seven feet in diameter."

HUNTING IN AUTOMOBILES.

After reading that more than a thousand deer were killed in New Jersey in the recent short open season of five days, and that, due to game law enforcement, there is now more wild life in Pennsylvania than there was half a century ago, both thickly populated states near the great centers of urban life, it is rather unexpected to find Dr. William T. Hornaday bitterly lamenting in Nature Magazine that the "harassed and beleaguered remnants of killable game" are exposed not only to all the previous "grossly unfair advantages," but now their peril is increased 50 per cent by the hunters' employment of automobiles in the chase. Dr. Hornaday says:

"In New England the hunters of grouse, quail and deer now use automobiles almost as universally as guns are used. Go into the deer counties of New York, Vermont and New Hampshire and you will very quickly begin to meet automobiles with dead deer lashed to their radiators. Go to Texas and you will find pictures of automobiles loaded down with dead game that will stagger you. The speedy and tireless automobile is added in order that the hunters of the game may be hunted over not merely three or four times a season, but ten or twenty times.

No doubt the automobile is used to reach the edge of the hunting district and to bring the game home, but how can it be used in the scrub oak areas and other forest fastnesses in which the deer lurk? How can the automobile be employed in actual hunting, except in the chase of big game in desert lands or other open and relatively smooth areas? Even the most ardent friend of game conservation may be tempted to ask whether Dr. Hornaday ever shouldered a gun and stalked a deer through the forest wilds in the whole course of his life.

IS OUR CLIMATE CHANGING?

Elias B. Dunn, a Washington weather observer, is said to attribute the alleged change in our climate to the nineteen million of irrigated acres in the West, which have caused an unusual amount of moisture to fill the air and affect climatic conditions. An area of 19,000,000 acres undoubtedly suggests big things, but when we figure it into less than 200 square miles it is less impressive, particularly when we consider such an area as compared with the whole earth is something like a single house in a large city. When we have an unusually mild autumn and December we are apt to say that the climate is "changing," and old inhabitants are likely to talk much of the deep snows and hard winters of former times, but when the thermometer drops down to or near zero in January we are not so sure, and may even consent to agree with Profesor J. Arthur Thompson when, in his "Outlines of Science," he says:

"The question is often asked whether our weather is changing for the worse, and to this the answer is in the negative. Very slight variations in temperature and in rainfall are known to recur in some places, and to have some agreement with the sun-spot cycle of about 11 years, and there have been some alterations from dry and warm periods to cool and wet ones, but the periods are very irregular and the changes slight.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

LIFE—UPGRADE, DOWNGRADE.

Some one has described health as the perfect working of all parts of the body.

That is, every part doing exactly what it was meant to do, and doing it properly.

One asked further—How is this attained?

The answer is by living a hygienic life. Hygiene is just the science of living properly.

Now how can one live properly?

Well if you are young, on the up journey of life, that is the first half of life, say up to thirty-five or even forty, you should be doing all in your power to permit Nature to give you your natural growth physically.

That means that while Nature is doing everything possible to ensure your growth, you should be helping her in every possible way.

If you are very young, that you are playing outdoors, eating good food, and getting a great deal of sleep.

If you are in your early twenties, then you are likewise playing some outdoors, getting good food, and plenty of sleep.

Between thirty and forty, some outdoor walking, or golfing, a little less food, and perhaps a little less sleep would be wise.

And what happens after the first half of the ordinary life?

Well growth ceases and decay sets in.

What is your object then? Simply that instead of trying to help Nature in assuring your growth you do all you can to delay decay.

How is it done?

Just exactly in the same manner as you assisted growth.

Exercise, even if slight in the outdoors, proper food, and sufficient sleep.

The problem should be easy because Nature now demands less exercise, less food and less sleep.

It is really harder for you because you dislike exercise (it sounds like work) you like food and you like sleep.

You have acquired your position in life, are not struggling quite so hard, you enjoy food and rest. This very inactivity on your part in regard to exercise, combined with the unnecessary food, and the unnecessary rest, really hurries the decay of your body.

Think it over.

PRESENT LEGISLATURE NOT ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT UPLIFT.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Jan. 30.—Blue law advocates and uplifters in general will not receive much consideration at the hands of the 1924 state legislature, according to report current at the capital. Speaker Macchold, Republican leader of the assembly, and James J. Walker, Governor Smith's right hand man in the upper house, do not approve of many of the measures advocated by this group of citizens.

Freeman Club's Ninth Annual

One of Best Banquets in Club's History Held Tuesday in Eagle Hotel—Fine Music and Excellent Menu and Good Speaking Marked the Occasion.

The discovery of America; the invention of the telephone, the electric light, the phonograph and other great events in the progress of mankind have long since past into history, and on Tuesday evening the ninth annual banquet of The Freeman Social Club did likewise.

Without doubt it was one of the finest banquets ever held by the organization, and was marked by the fact that every member of the organization was present to celebrate the event.

It was shortly after 8 o'clock that evening when the club to the strains of Paul Zucca's orchestra marched into the main dining room of the Eagle Hotel on Main street where Mine Host William J. Turck had prepared one of the best menus ever offered at a club banquet. The banqueting tables were artistically with cut flowers in profusion and at each plate lay the handsomely gotten up menu, which bore on its cover a photograph of the old Sampson House fire in 1885 in the building now occupied by The Freeman. The menu card was the work of The Freeman job department and was a fine example of the printer's art.

Throughout the serving of the various courses the club members sang a number of popular songs to the accompaniment of the orchestra. It was after 11 o'clock when the event was brought to a successful close.

The following fine menu was faultlessly served:

Mattitucks on half shell
Queen Olives
Salted Almonds
Kalamazoo Celery
Disque of Tomato Aux Crouton
Boiled Chicken Halibut
Shrimp Sauce
Sweetbreads Glasse Financiere on Caisnes
Roast Maryland Turkey
Chestnut Dressing Cranberry Sauce
Mashed Potatoes June Green Peas
Heart of Lettuce Salad
Thousand Island Dressing
Fresh Strawberry Ice Cream
Assorted French Pastry Demi Tasse
Cigars Cigarettes

After the good things had been tucked away where they would do the most good, President Eugene Cornwell, E. Joseph Long, Joseph F. Sullivan and Jay E. Klock spoke briefly and to the point on topics of interest to those present.

During the evening Russell P. Harlow sang "Oh, Min! Oh, Min!" John L. Sitewski rendered "Not Here, Not There," while Walter H. Kieffer gave a finely played violin solo.

Paul Zucca's orchestra furnished delightful music during the evening. The members of The Freeman Social Club are:

Aliens Being Smuggled in

Only to Rootless Industry, Says Davis—Business is Well Organized.

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 30.—Smuggling aliens into the United States has reached the proportions of an organized industry, second only to the bootlegging of liquor, Secretary of Labor Davis declared today.

Conditions are such to challenge immediate attention of Congress, he said.

"The smuggling of aliens into this country is perhaps as prolific a source of revenue to those engaged in the traffic as is the bringing in of contraband liquor and narcotics," Davis asserted. "With the great expanse of unprotected sea coast and land border and the lack of sufficient officers and facilities at the disposition of the immigration service to cope with the situation, the smuggler experiences little difficulty in plying his trade."

Reliable information has been received by Secretary Davis to the effect that there are now in existence numerous far reaching organizations that take the alien from his home in Europe, secure a passport for him—a fraudulent one if necessary, purchase a steamship passage arrange for his trip to Cuba, Canada or Mexico and conduct him by various underground routes into the United States, for a fixed price.

"It must not be understood that no effort is made to stop this illegal practice," the secretary said. "To the very extent of its ability the immigration service has sought and deported those unlawfully here and prosecutions have been instituted and in a great many cases convictions have been obtained against those responsible and participating in the illegal entry."

LELAND DIVORCE DRAMA IN ITS CLOSING HOURS

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Chicago, Jan. 30.—With the testimony of two rebuttal witnesses and a final argument by attorneys, the divorce drama was to be enacted today.

Superior Judge Foell must decide whether "Mrs. Charlotte Leland is really competent and has told the truth in her extended story of fervid romance with the Rev. Dr. Carl D. Leland, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Oak Park or whether, as her minister contends, she is neurotic and her account was the outburst of an unreasonably repressed impulse. Aliens are divided. Two of the men who worked the manufacturer's case closely on the witness stand testified she was suffering from a "nervous condition." The third said she was telling the truth.

Albert R. Leland, and his son were the closing witnesses in the drama.

A crowd eager for the final drama, again stormed the court house.

Ulster Border Situation Acute

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Belfast, Jan. 30.—Warlike preparations are being made today by the Irish Free State along the Ulster border, according to advices received here today.

The uneasiness is being increased by news of the forthcoming boundary conference in London Friday, because it is feared that the Labor government of England will favor the Free State's claims.

Commandant Nixon, of the Ulster constabulary, reports that the southern side of the Ulster-Free State line is bristling with artillery, airplanes and armored cars.

Unionist leaders have set up the cry "Not one inch of Ulster soil shall be taken by the Free State."

Dublin, Jan. 30.—Free State officials admitted today that the Ulster border question is delicate, but they deny that any preparations have been made to go to war against Ulster.

When the Free State was created Ulster refused to join but remained loyal to England and still has representatives in the English House of Commons.

Palm Tree Man's Brother.
Modern peoples cherish a quaint and attractive tradition which bespeaks their gratitude for the palm tree that is so nearly the staff of their life.

When God created Adam, they say, from the dust of the earth, there remained over a little handful of earth from the raw material of life's handiwork, and with it He created the palm tree to be man's brother in the vegetable world and the supplier of his greatest need.

And the sign of this kinship is preserved in the characteristic which separates the palm from all other trees. As man can live, though maimed in his limbs, so can the palm tree survive, though it may shed its bark and its branches. But cut off their heads and man and palm must die.

Messages to Trains.

An ingenious device for delivering messages to moving trains has been adopted by an Eastern road. It consists of a long-forked stick, with clips at the ends; a cord loop is hung on these fingers, which grasp it so tightly that a gale of wind cannot blow it off, but the trainman may slip it off with ease. To this cord is attached the message. The stick is held out to the train with the fork pointing in the way the train is going. The trainman simply holds out his arm and allows his hand to come between the forks of the stick and the string. The cord is loosened immediately and he carries it with the message attached away with him on the speeding train.

Spruce Gum.

Spruce gum is collected by cutting the natural lumps of gum from the tree, usually by means of a small hatchet. It can be gathered at any time of the year, but the fall and winter are usually preferred, more because of the climatic conditions than because of the availability of the gum at this time of the year. Ordinarily the gum is assorted into two classes, one of which is clear and entirely free from bark. The small amount of the material which cannot be entirely separated from bark is sometimes sold as a low grade and is separated from the bark and dirt by melting and straining.

The Te Deum.

The Te Deum is a famous Latin hymn of praise and supplication—so called from its first words—used in the ritual of the Roman Catholic and Anglican churches. Its date and authorship are uncertain, but it is commonly supposed to be the joint production of St. Ambrose and St. Augustine, on the occasion of the baptism of the latter, about 390 A. D. On this account it is frequently called the "Ambrosian Hymn." It also has been ascribed to Athanasius, bishop of Alexandria, to Nicetus, and to Hilary of Poitiers.

Cruiser Isle's Bleak Sisters.

The Chilean islands of San Ambrosio and San Felix are mere pinpoints of rock in the Pacific ocean and never have been inhabited by man. About the only life which the islands support is that of a few stunted desert shrubs and a few seals and sea birds, says a bulletin of the National Geographic society. The islands were discovered in 1574 by the same Juan Fernandez, who discovered and gave his name to the equally desolate land that later became "Robinson Crusoe's island," 600 miles to the south.

Fountain of Bubbles.

A fountain of bubbles has proved a great attraction in England. A machine is so arranged that 20,000 soap bubbles a minute may be blown with coal gas and sent up into the air. The beautiful effect in colors when the sun shines on this fountain may well be imagined. At nightfall artificial lighting and the use of colored fires add to the beauty and interest. The soap bubble is also suggested as a substitute for pigeons or glass balls in marksmanship contests.

Keeps Flea 3,000 Years.

Castor oil, collecting the only flea to come down in all its glory from that age to this, was found in the tomb of Tutankhamen in Egypt, according to Arthur Weigall, former inspector-general of antiquities for the Egyptian government. The castor oil was still in liquid form, when found. The flea was found embalmed in the oil and is now reposing in state in the museum in Cairo where it is reported as the only flea mummy in the world.

State Sixth in Production

In the value of crops, including greenhouse products and timber, in 1923 in New York State ranks in sixth place among the states of the Union, according to a report issued by Berne A. Pyrk, Commissioner of Farms and Markets. The recent report of the United States Department of Agriculture lists New York State as eighth, but with the value of nursery and greenhouse products included, New York stands ahead of Missouri, which is given seventh place; and if the value of timber products is included, New York ranks sixth and ahead of Ohio, so that this state would be exceeded by only Texas, Iowa, Illinois, California, and North Carolina in the value of agricultural products.

Commissioner Pyrk stated that this is an excellent showing, since New York State ranks about fourteenth among the states of the Union in number, area and value of farms. Including nursery, greenhouse and forest products valued at $23,000,000 with other products, the total value for 1923 in New York State was $329,000,000. This is an average of about $1,670 per farm, or $34.00 an acre, and is equal to 22 percent of the value of the farms given at the time of the census of 1920. This average of $1,670 per farm in New York State is an indication of agricultural progress here, since in the United States as a whole the value of 1923 crops was only $1,470 per farm, or $25 an acre, and an average of 14.5 per cent of the value of farms in 1920.

New York State's standing should be considered, it is stated, in comparison with the production of the corn belt states, for which advantages are proclaimed. Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas all have from 5 to 750 per cent more crop land than New York, but in each of these states the crops this year are worth less than in New York. The value of crops in Illinois, and Iowa is greater than the value in New York State, but in neither of these states did the crops have an average value per acre above $22, while in New York State the value is $34. The total value of crops was only 64 per cent of the 1920 value of farms in Iowa, and 8 per cent of the total value of farms in Illinois as compared to 22 per cent in New York.

ALCOHOL-LOADED SHIP! MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 30.—Fear that the Holland steamer Papyrus, formerly the Susquehanna, sailing under the American flag, may have met an unexplained fate similar to the Cyclops was expressed here today. The Papyrus, a 3,000-ton steamer loaded with alcohol consigned to Halifax, sailed from Antwerp on December 8. She has not been heard from and the belief was expressed that she sank with all hands aboard.

NEW YEAR CALLER

"Happy New Year," said King Snow.

"Happy New Year," said his children, the Snowflakes, and his grandchildren, the Snowdrops.

"Happy New Year," said Mr. Wind.

"How handsome you look. Your robe is so very, very white. I don't believe I've ever seen such beautiful white snow."

"Well," said King Snow, "I'm a better in dressing up for a holiday."

"I see you are," said Mr. Wind.

"Well, whom do you think I brought with me as a New Year's caller? He stopped off to speak to a friend and will be right along. I'm going to let him take my place, too, as I have an engagement with the Storm King. The Storm King is giving a great party in honor of New Year's Day."

"Prince Sleet is coming and his lazy sister Softy Slush is coming along, too. She has a good deal of energy when it comes to a party, though she is lazy about not wanting to keep up anything for any length of time. That is why she just flops herself down in such a lazy, spineless fashion on the ground."

"Rather a funny way to speak of Softy Slush—to call her spineless—but it describes her just the same."

"You haven't told me who is the caller coming to see me and those of my family, who're here today," said King Snow.

"I'm going to," said Mr. Wind, "but I got started telling you of our party first."

"Yes, and I'm glad to hear about it, too," said King Snow.

"Well, that splendid old chap who sits things up so is going to be at our party—you know—Harry Hurricane."

"Then the Blizzard Boys are coming dressed in their best and wildest costume. The Icicle Brothers are coming and Mr. Freeze-the-Ponds is going to play a joke on every one who has whiskers and mustache."

"Of course, I suppose," Mr. Wind continued, "we should begin the New Year with better behaviour, but you know we are bound to have these little parties once in awhile and we made a resolution this year not to make a good resolution on New Year's Day."

"How extremely naughty of you," said King Snow. "Well, I like that as well as I do the kind of a creature who pretends so much on one day and forgets all about it the next."

"I'd rather see one resolution kept than dozens thought about and broken. And at least I admire you for being honest."

"And I am sure you will have a good time and I wish you all a Happy New Year."

"I wish it to all the others, too. Pray extend to them my heartiest of best wishes, as it's said."

"I will, indeed," said Mr. Wind, "and now I must hurry off, for it is time for my party to begin."

"And here comes the caller I told you was coming."

And then came along a rather old creature dressed in a suit of ice and snow. It looked almost like a suit of armor.

"Such thick looking ice as it was made of, too! And he didn't seem to mind his costume in the least."

He had begun to speak and as he spoke a great, great chilliness spread over the air and the thermometers all over began to tremble and then drop with fear.

"I don't have to introduce you, do I?" asked Mr. Wind.

"No, no indeed," said King Snow.

"I should say not," said the caller. "We're great friends, aren't we King Snow?"

"We certainly are," King Snow agreed. And they waved a good-by to Mr. Wind and another wish for a Happy New Year and he left with a splendid flourish.

"Well, Sir Way-Below-Zero, I'm glad to see you and to have a chat with you," said King Snow, for as you may have guessed, Sir Way-Below-Zero was his friend, "and I welcome you right cordially."

"That rejoices me," said Sir Way-Below-Zero, "for I haven't a great many friends. Somehow people don't warm up to me."

"Never mind, Sir Way-Below-Zero, you're pretty powerful and you have your own way and don't have to copy any one else."

"You're a friend," said Sir Way-Below-Zero to King Snow and they clasped each other with their cold hands, but neither minded. Instead each said to the other:

"And a Happy New Year, Friend."

A REAL TEACHER

If all of every school-child's life were guided by such a woman as Alice Talbott, what sort of citizens would we have? And if each of us who considered being a school-teacher could put into the job her sure enthusiasm, do you think there would be any question of our success and happiness?

"I teach," she says, "because I have natural ability in that line of work. I teach in high school because it offers an opportunity to help the world of folks in their formative years; high schools are a selective, yet democratic group. I teach because in doing so I serve; and in service there is happiness. I teach because I like folks; I believe folks just folks—are the greatest things in the world."

"I prefer the smaller high school because it seems to me the teacher has more personal influence than in a large, machine-like organization necessary with a large group. (The teachers in St. Louis schools are requested to put 50 per cent of their energy into administrative work. L. M.)

"My mother and my grandmother were teachers before us. My grandmother's wages were 50 cents a day. Mine represents an increase of more than 800 per cent. (Shades of the arguments about plumbers' increases! Yet we know teachers aren't overpaid. But let's get on to this Alice Talbott's education, and see how she prepared herself.)

"My education includes, in addition to a country school training, five years of high school, more than five years of college and university work with an A. B. degree, private training in dramatics and public speaking, piano, organ and voice. (One doesn't have to accomplish that all at once, you know. The best small-town high school principal I ever met was gaining his university training, summer term by summer term, plus supporting a wife.)

"I worked along social service lines for a year," says Miss Talbott, "in one of the most famous clinics in the United States. Fifty to sixty thousand pass through it each year, six thousand through the section with which I was associated."

"I prefer the Main Street section of the world where there is elbow room for the body and for the soul."

ERB-I-TOL Indian Tonic

Cough and Lung Remedy

is scientifically made from the highest grade of Roots and Herbs, so that its rich vitamin contents may be easily absorbed even by a weakened digestive system. It helps to restore weak and run-down systems to health and strength. Most disease is due to a run-down condition of the body, unhealthy tissue, blood poisoned with impurities and general weakness. The principle of this medicine is simple. It furnishes the vegetable elements that the body requires, and strengthens each organ so that it can do its work. The vegetable elements are the kind of food that furnishes nourishment from which blood and tissue are made—pure and wholesome. That is how it builds tissue, builds up the body, makes strength, prevents disease, and restores the strength lost through disease.

LOISE B. HARRIMAN GETS ALMOY AND CHILDREN

By Telegram to The Freeman
White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Facts of a secret divorce, granted to Mrs. Loise B. Harriman of Bedford Hills, from Oliver Carley Harriman, son of Oliver Harriman, millionaire New York banker, became known today. The decree, granted several weeks ago by Justice George H. Taylor, Jr., at Mount Vernon, awarded Mrs. Harriman $500 a month alimony.

It was learned Mrs. Harriman named an unidentified young woman as co-respondent, alleging misconduct between her and Harriman in New York. The couple were married in 1915 and have two children who will be in the custody of the mother.

Lions Like Catnip.

We have all heard that cats like catnip. It remained for government scientists to apply this knowledge practically to the big cats. They found the hunting of mountain lions and bobcats with dogs and guns to prevent destruction of Western cattle was an expensive proposition. Then they thought of catnip. Large quantities of this aromatic herb were raised. From this, chemists extracted the oil which gives it its odor. Now it is no longer necessary to look up the lions; they walk right into traps scented with catnip oil.

A worthy professor was invited to dine at the house of a lady of fashion. When the company rose from the table, the professor noticed, to his great consternation, that he was unsteady on his feet. In his anxiety to save appearances he repaired to the drawing room, where the lady of the house yielded to the wishes of her lady friends and showed them her baby twins. The poor professor gazed intently at them for a while and then said, somewhat huskily: "Really, what a bonny little child."

PECULIAR TOWN OF ST. ANDREWS

Old Scotch City Is Capital of Learning and Golf.

Will St. Andrews, bleak old Scotch sea town, first in learning and golf, take first place in the hearts of lovers of English literature and the staunch Anglo-Saxon code?

"This speculation arises from the new custom of St. Andrews, oldest college in Scotland, of electing an honorary rector for a year," says a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Last year, in his rectorial capacity, Barrie made his now famous address on 'Curing' this year Rudyard Kipling talked to the students on 'Independence.' The custom is much as if Abraham Lincoln had been elected to an honorary professorship at Harvard and that occasion gave the 'Gottysburg Address' and had been succeeded the following year by Ralph Waldo Emerson speaking on 'Compensation.' Much Copied City.

"All unconsciously, every fair sized city in the United States has copied a part of St. Andrews on American soil—the golf links. All the links and all the praise of golf must at last fall on the heads of this village, early residents, because St. Andrews is the capital of golf. And since these St. Andrews golfers happened to play over a bumpy pasture, bumpy pastures have been built for golf enthusiasts in the arid wastes of Montana, amid coconut groves of the South seas, on Florida's keys and the Himalaya mountains. Because a creek of the Eden happened to flow across this Scotch grazing ground, no golf course is complete without a water hazard.

"The town of St. Andrews is peculiar. It is one of the few cities in the world lacking a geographical reason for existence. It is no important railroad junction, no coal field, no river. Situated on the bleak headland between the Firth of Forth where Edinburgh looks down and the firth which shelters Dundee, St. Andrews possesses a poor harbor noted chiefly as a trap for ships. Yet the history of 'Golfmania' as the town is called by golfers, goes back so far it is lost in antiquity.

"Legend has it that Regulus, an Irish monk, brought the bones of St. Andrew to this missionary outpost some time between 500 and 700. The saint's bones must have rested easily because St. Andrews has been the religious whirlpool of Scotland ever since. Its bishops hanged and were hanged. John Knox used the city as a base of operations for the reformists. Patrick Hamilton, a martyr, was burned before the cathedral. While Mary Queen of Scots sought refuge there, enemies planned her assassination. In the Cromwell revolution another bitter storm centered on the town, and even today it has not entirely recovered.

Game and University Boon.

"But throughout the story of strife runs the thread of golf. Golf and the university appear in the same century, the Fifteenth. Wars may rage and men kill each other for the glory of God, but the links on the shore of the German ocean were held sacred to the game. Three months before the Pilgrim fathers left Delftshaven James VI approved the contract for the first municipal golf links at St. Andrews. Later these links were acquired by the Ancient and Royal Golf Club of St. Andrews, which, to this day, acts as the Justinian of golf law for the world. "Golf may have started in Holland, where a game called 'kolf' apparently a cross between golf hockey and bowling, was played, but is now extinct. It was played on the lee, within covered courts and even in churchyards. Even if the Scotch did import the sport, they changed it greatly. The location and peculiarity of terrain at St. Andrews is found in golf terminology just as the topography is produced on every continent. 'Links' for example, the Scotch term referring to rolling, close-cropped shore fields which have become the model for all golf courses. Bunkers' are really cut banks such as are found along a graded country road. Such banks with sand pits are natural to this shore. St. Andrews' cut banks are now artificially created on golf links wherever golf is played. For a good many years the Royal and Ancient course consisted of eleven holes, a match being two rounds or twenty-two holes, but in 1784 the club decided to eliminate two, so today the standard course is in multiples of nine.

Tried to Suppress Game.

"The first reference to golf in Scotland is an ordinance of the Scottish parliament, 'That the fute-ball and golf be utterly cryit down and necht said; and that howe-merks be maid it ilk parochie kirk a pair of buttis, and shuttin be usit ilk Sunday.' It is evidence that the Scots, young as well as old, were neglecting national guard drill for the links and the scrimmage line. The stormy issue of Sunday golf was settled in Scotland back in 1593. The year previous the Edinburgh council had issued a proclamation that seeing the Sabbath day being the Lord's day, no inhabitants be seen at the town, or at golf, etc. But his was too much for the devout Scots, and in 1593 the ordinance was modified with the prohibition only 'in time of sermons.'

"James IV issued a stern decree forbidding 'golf and futeball' in 1491 and then went out and played himself. Mary Stuart is believed to be the first woman golfer on record, having shortly after Scotland by playing the game within a few days after her husband's murder. When women were first admitted to the Ancient and Royal they were limited to a putting course.

"In 1863 St. Andrews hired Tom Morris, a young Scotch boy, to keep up the course. Little did they think that this poor boy would spread a larger ripple on history than any member of their organization. Morris developed a strong pride in the links and groomed them diligently. Then as golf grew more popular Tom Morris was engaged to lay out new courses in England and Scotland. So well did he do his work that many a club is proud to say that their course was laid out by Tom Morris. Naturally he imitated conditions found on the burns of his native heath and golf courses everywhere have been made on the general Morris plan."

Pia Monica's mother eloped, just before the child was born, with one Monsieur Guion, a Belgian tutor who had had charge of the little prince and princess, and there was doubt as to the baby's paternity, the Saxon law courts finally deciding that Pia Monica must be regarded as a Saxon princess.

Luminous Fish That Shouts as It Swims

Before the group of scientists conducting the Expedition of American Scientists for Experimental Biology at St. Louis, Dr. C. W. Greene of the University of Missouri told of a new, scintillating luminous fish which swims as it swims.

The fish was discovered in the waters of Monterey Bay and has been named 'Pala. Thisoptalis.' Because of the peculiar construction of its swim bladder it is able to shout, he said. The bladder is U shaped, each leg about the size of a man's finger. Between the two legs is a membrane having a small hole.

When the shutter bears down upon a smaller fish it drives some of the gaseous contents of the bladder from one end to the other, producing the noise. The swim bladder contains a gas with a larger percentage of oxygen than atmospheric air, sometimes as high as 50 to 80 per cent oxygen. Hundreds of tests were taken to determine that fact, said Dr. Greene. The fish bears 350 gleaming phosphorescent lights.

Wife Surprises Hubby With Three Children

Mrs. Annette France's "little surprise" led her husband, Henry G. France, of 2904 Clarendon road, Brooklyn, to obtain an annulment in the Brooklyn Supreme court recently.

The couple were married in November, 1921, when France was eighteen years old and the defendant about ten years older. About a year after, said France, his wife went away on a trip but returned in time to celebrate their first wedding anniversary. She brought three children with her.

"I asked her whose children they were," said France. "She said: 'They're mine. Just a little surprise for you.'"

On the ground that he had not known of the prior marriage France obtained the annulment.

Commission Plans to Survey East Africa

An eight months' investigation of hygienic, economic and educational conditions in East Africa will be made by a commission financed by the International Education Board, established by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., the Phelps-Stokes Fund and mission societies of Europe and the United States. It was announced at New York, approval of the British, Belgian, Portuguese and Abyssinian governments has been obtained.

The commission, after studying conditions, will suggest plans to meet educational needs of the native races. The American members of the commission, Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, chairman, Dr. James H. Dillard and Dr. Homer L. Shantz, sailed on the American.

Paradise Nuts.

Paradise nuts are sweet and oily and resemble the Brazil nut. The nuts are formed inside a large urn shaped shell, commonly known as "monkey pot," similar in construction to that inclosing Brazil nuts, but much larger. When the mature pod falls to the ground the natural gas within blows off the neatly-fitting lid of the urn, scattering the nuts and at the same time producing a characteristic report which brings all the neighboring monkeys rushing to the feast.

Worldly Advice.

A famous bishop had the trick of pronouncing "a" like "u" thus: "I am fond of but coffee," according to Pett Ridge, who has written "A Story Teller Forty Years in London." Once he was giving advice to a working girls' club, and impressed on the members the necessity for arranging full occupation of their spare time. "Above all, girls," he said earnestly, "try by all means available, to cultivate a hobby!"—From the Argonaut.

Would Gain Either Way.

Doctor Garth, a witty physician of the court of Queen Anne, had prescribed a nauseous dose for the great warrior, the duke of Marlborough. When the duke objected to following the directions, the sharp-tongued Duchess Sarah broke in by saying, "I'll be hanged if it does not cure you." "There, my lord," interposed Garth, "you had better swallow it; you will gain either way."

It Always Had.

A man was driving through the country in an automobile without a top. It began to rain and he sought shelter under a farm shed. As it continued to rain for some time he became impatient and said to the farmer: "Do you think it is ever going to clear up?" The farmer looked out and slowly said: "Well, it always has."

Why He Knew.

In the privacy of his home, the village butcher was telling his wife of the arrival of a new resident. "She came in today," he said with enthusiasm, "and I can tell you she's a real lady, brought up select and exclusive. She don't know one cut of meat from another, nor veal from mutton."

Committee of Dawes in Berlin

Most German Papers Welcome Them as Possible Rescuers But a Few Are Very Bitter.

By Telegram to The Freeman
Berlin, Jan. 30.—Extra police guards were furnished by the government today to members of the first committee of international reparations experts, headed by General Charles G. Dawes, which arrived last night from Paris. For the most part the committee was hailed as a harbinger of hope, but some reactionary newspapers, notably the Deutsch Zeitung, attacked it, inflaming the imagination of young nationalists.

For fear that fanatics might attack members of the committee, the government decided to give police bodyguards to the members and special precautions were taken to guard the hotel where they are living and the office where they are meeting. General Dawes' job is no time today in getting down to work. He had already outlined a memorandum showing the facts which the committee wishes to ascertain.

Simultaneously with the arrival of the committee, the government launched a propaganda campaign to show that Germany cannot pay the February installment of the cost of military occupation.

Despite the clamor of the minority the general opinion is one of hope. It is felt that the Americans, who are disinterested in European politics, will pave the way to a reparations settlement, or at least help Germany to struggle to her feet financially.

Most of the newspapers gave a cordial welcome to the committee. Some of the papers told the Germans to "trust to the business ability of General Dawes, who is a young man—alert and full of energy."

A notable exception was the Deutsch Zeitung, which commented: "While we do not deny the individual right of the committee to call themselves gentlemen, the committee as a whole is a bunch of blood sucking enemies—hyenas—desecrating the corpse of Germany. They are disgusting to us. We welcome them as a bunch of hangers-on." Hugo Stinnes' newspaper, the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, pointed out that General Dawes is personally pro-French because he is the possessor of French and Belgian decorations conferred in war time. "Nevertheless we wish him success and we have confidence that he will be entirely impartial in his official business."

Seismograph Sensitive.
The seismograph, the instrument which records earthquakes, is so sensitive that it will show how much the buildings on opposite sides of a busy street tilt inward when traffic is at its heaviest during the day, and how they recover their position when it ceases.

Pleasure of Old Age.
Old age in a person graced with honors is attended with such respect and authority that the sense of this alone is preferable to all the pleasures youth can enjoy.

Boxing Club to Be Organized

Those Interested in Professional Boxing Meet This Week to Organize Kingston Athletic Association and Apply for State License.

There will be an important meeting held shortly by those interested in professional boxing in Kingston for the purpose of organizing the Kingston Athletic Association at which time application will be made to the state boxing commission for a license to hold bouts in the city this summer.

Monday afternoon the promoters met with the Kingston Fair Ground officials and submitted a proposed lease of the Fair Grounds. At that time the Fair Ground officials asked for time to look over the proposed lease which has now been returned to the promoters with some modifications and changes. It is expected that the revised lease will be acceptable to both parties.

As soon as the Kingston Athletic Association is organized The Freeman will publish the names of the officers of the new association. Until such an organization is perfected a request has been made that the names of those interested be not made public. The backers of the new association, however, are all well known and it is boxing license is obtained the fight fans may be assured of some crackjack bouts here this summer.

COOLIDGE REITERATES OPPOSITION TO BONUS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 30.—President Coolidge today reiterated his opposition to a soldiers' bonus when a delegation representing the "Ex-Servicemen's Anti-Bonus League" called on him and congratulated him for his "courageous stand" against the bonus.

"Those who served in the military forces during the war made a great sacrifice for their country and those who are now opposing the bonus also are making a great sacrifice for their country," the president was reported by those present to have said at the interview.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 30.—Summated by the increase in the extra dividend by the United States Steel Corporation and its remarkable earning statement for the last quarter. In 1923, the stock market opened very strong today. Prices of the industrial shares jumped from one to nearly six points. Davison Chemical rising 5 1/2 to 58. U. S. Steel rose 2 1/2 to 107. Bethlehem 2 1/2 to 60. Gulf States 1 1/2 to 85 and Baldwin 1 1/2 to 124 1/2. Studebaker gained 1 1/2 to 102 1/2. Chandler Motor 3/4 to 62 and U. S. Rubber 1/2 to 39 1/2. Pan-American Petroleum advanced 2 points to 50. Phillips Petroleum one point to 49 1/2. Corden 1/2 to 37 1/2 and Marland Oil at 39 1/2 and Pacific Oil at 55 1/2 up. Railroad shares were firm.

Announcement after the close yesterday of increase in extra dividend rate on U. S. Steel common and the publication of the corporation's fourth quarterly earning statement, showing earnings of nearly $50,000,000, the largest since the war, stimulated buying of most classes of industrial shares in the forenoon trading on the stock exchange today. Oils held very firm and rails held steady.

Mine Workers Discuss Wages

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 30.—The most momentous question confronting the United Mine Workers' convention, that of wages—was to come before the delegates' meeting here after the disposal of the question on constitutional changes.

The proposal to take away from the president, John L. Lewis, the power of appointing workers and organizers, provoked the most sharply drawn struggle since the convention began its sessions more than a week ago when the constitutional committee brought out its reports.

Administration forces, beaten on a standing vote, forced the first roll call on the issue, the outcome of which was awaited at today's session.

The wage scale committee is composed of district presidents, headed by Frank Farrington, of Illinois, former insurgent leader. Farrington has stood by the Lewis administration in the convention so far and it was generally conceded that he would support the Lewis program calling for longer term of contract and not necessarily a wage increase.

Society Notes

Friends of Mrs. W. Slawson, of 313 Hasbrouck avenue, surprised her on her birthday Saturday evening. Pinochle was played and a pleasant evening was enjoyed by all. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Slawson and sons, Calvin and Billy. Mr. and Mrs. John Tansky and daughter, Hilda, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wilber and son, Harry, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Wheaton and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Coughlin.

Accord, Jan. 30.—A very pleasant surprise birthday party was tendered Edison Baker at his home last Friday evening. It was also intended for a farewell party for Miss Betty Baker. A most joyous time was enjoyed by all those present. During the evening a quartet was enjoyed, consisting of Mr. Gentile at the piano, Mr. Davies playing the banjo, Miss Baker playing a banjo ukulele and Miss Wager playing a Hawaiian ukulele. Dancing and games were played during the evening. About midnight the guests were ushered into a very prettily decorated dining room. On the table was a mammoth cake on which was marked the year and the age of Mr. Baker. The guests departed in the wee hours of the morning, wishing Miss Baker a very prosperous and happy trip and Mr. Baker many more happy birthdays. Friends were present from Ellenville, Keokuk, Accord, High Falls and Kingston.

Loeffler-Koskie.

Robert A. Loeffler of No. 142 Wilbur avenue and Miss Anna Koskie of No. 1 Rodney street were united in marriage on January 27 by the Rev. Thomas J. Corbett of the Church of the Holy Name. The wedding was attended by Raymond J. Conlin and Miss Agnes C. Dunne.

Lowell Club.

On Tuesday the Lowell Club met with Mrs. Wenderly. Miss Baker had prepared an excellent and most interesting paper on Author Ibsen, but owing to illness was unable to be present and the paper was read by Mrs. Hale. Mrs. Witter then gave an admirable review of "Peer Gynt," with readings from this play of Ibsen's. The roll call consisted of quotations from Ibsen. During the business session the program committee for next year was appointed as follows: Mrs. Lewis, Miss Riskey, Mrs. Delaplane and Mrs. Van Wageningen. The president called to the attention of the club the message from the Home Bureau to the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs, also the matter of securing better moving pictures for Kingston. At the next meeting, which will be held with Mrs. Lewis at the home of Mrs. Edson, corner of Main street and Johnson avenue, the club will vote on the subject of study for next year.

ST. MARY'S U. C. B. A. CARD PARTY A SUCCESS.

The card party held at the home of Mrs. Kathryn Roach, 35 Stayevant street, Tuesday evening proved to be one of the most successful social affairs held in this city in some time.

The large attendance and the many and beautiful prizes awarded the highest scorers showed that the members had done much to add to the success of the affair.

After the games refreshments were served and the guests departed voting St. Mary's Branch, 256 L. C. B. A. royal entertainers.

THE JOINERS.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

The following lodges hold regular meetings this evening:

Kosciusko Lodge, No. 86, I. O. O. F., Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street.

Aretas Lodge, No. 172, I. O. O. F., at 36 East Strand.

All members of the degree team of Charles DeWitt Council 31, J. O. U. A. M., are requested to be present Friday night as the third degree will be worked on several candidates. Refreshments will be served.

A special meeting of the Catholic Daughters of America will be held Thursday evening at the K. of C. building, Broadway and Andrew street. Members of the social committee for February are especially requested to be present to arrange for a recital to be given under the direction of Mrs. William Rieser.

Youth, looking at the picture of a palm grove, says: "What a beautiful grove." Middle-aged, looking at it, says: "How hot it must be there."

Thanks for Near East Relief

Admiral Higginson, has received the following communication in which the many contributors to Near East Relief will be interested:

Near East Relief, 151 Fifth Ave., New York City, Jan. 21, 1924.
F. J. Higginson, Kingston New York.

My dear Mr. Higginson,
I want to thank you for your recent contribution. Our official receipt is enclosed.

As you undoubtedly know we have a great task before us. During the last year we carried an extra burden in caring for thousands of refugees who were driven from Asia Minor to Greece and Syria. In addition to this we have been compelled to make large extra expenditures in moving most of our orphans to places of safety.

Our major task is to care for 60,000 orphan children scattered throughout the entire Near East. Of these, 60 per cent are still under 13 years of age. Of course, we have graduated many from our orphanages into activities of self support but it is an appalling fact that as fast as we graduate them there are many more to be received. The Hon. Henry Morgenthau and others who are working among refugees in Greece recently stated that in that country alone there are at least 35,000 children mostly orphans who have no means of support other than that which Near East Relief can give.

Dr. Frank B. Graves, commissioner of education of the state of New York, said on his return from a visit to our work: "I was never more proud of America in my life than as I went about inspecting this Near East Relief."

This work must go on. In sending your contribution you are helping to make that possible. We greatly appreciate what you have so generously given.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) IRVING T. GUMB, New York State Director.

Odds and Ends

The Women's Auxiliary of Holy Cross Church will meet at the parish house Thursday afternoon, January 31, at 2:30 o'clock. Missionary and Lenten work will be discussed. All members and all ladies, who are interested are invited to participate.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Mrs. William Connelly, an old and respected resident of Shandaken, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Johnson, in Fox Hollow Monday morning, January 28, in the 78th year of her age. Mrs. Connelly had been a sufferer for a long time. Funeral from the late residence and from the Shandaken Church Thursday. Interment at Shandaken.

Mrs. Harriet Brooks, widow of the late Thomas Brooks, of Argyle, died at the home of her youngest daughter, Mrs. C. F. Newell, 12 Riverside Drive, Glens Falls, following a long illness. She was born May 29, 1850, and was the last of twelve children of Eleazar and Harriet McMore of Fort Ann. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. J. C. Roberts of Glens Falls, Mrs. H. R. Sweet of Hudson Falls and Mrs. C. Fay Newell of Saratoga.

Rose, the young daughter of Victoria, and the late Frank Zaksecki of No. 11 Rock street, died today at the family residence. Rose, as was her sister, Helen, who died December 22, last, was an employee of the American Cigar Factory and with her jovial and kindly disposition enjoyed a large circle of friends. The family have the sympathy of the entire community at this double bereavement. Besides her mother, the deceased is survived by the following sisters and brothers, Mrs. John Revis of Jersey City, Mrs. Frank Lucas, Mrs. Anthony Janoski, Mrs. Lester Schreiber and Mrs. George Janoski of this city, Louis of Jersey City and Frank at home. Funeral arrangements later.

William Quinn died Monday at his home, 563 Palisade avenue, West Hoboken, N. J., following a short illness. Mr. Quinn was well known in this city. For a large number of years he was engaged in the undertaking business in Rosendale, a partner of the late John A. Malloy of this city. Mr. Quinn conducted the business himself for a long time. His death will be felt with deep regret by a large circle of residents in this section. Funeral Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from the late residence and at 10 o'clock at St. Augustine's Church, Union Hill, N. J., with a solemn requiem Mass for the repose of his soul. The remains will arrive in this city Thursday afternoon on the 2:10 West Shore train. The remains will be taken to Rosendale and the body interred in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery.

The funeral of Russell G. Locke, a former postmaster and retired merchant at Modena, was held Tuesday afternoon from his late residence there, and was largely attended. The floral offerings were very impressive. Interment was made in the Modena cemetery. Mr. Locke, who died Friday afternoon after a brief illness, was one of the best known business men in southern Ulster county, and had been a resident of Modena for many years going there as a young man to clerk in a store in the village. Later he established himself in business there. Of late years he retired from active business and resided on a large farm at Modena. The funeral services Tuesday were attended by many representative men from all sections of Ulster county and from adjoining counties.

Another Death Is "Exaggerated"

A "deserted village" story, apparently written by a Poughkeepsie "journalist" has been going the rounds of the newspapers telling with great pathos of the sad end that has come to Rifton, five miles from Kingston on the New Paltz road, through its being covered with water impounded by the new Sturgeon Pool hydro-electric dam. This story may have brought a good price to the writer, from some one who did not investigate if accurately but the fact is that Rifton is as much alive as it has been in a long period and during the last few years has prospered increasingly. More people are coming in, realty values are increasing and residents now anticipate a big boom through the added scenic beauty, boating and fishing to be had on the big new lake that stretches from the foot of the Dashville falls to the new power plant at Sturgeon Pool.

The only territory at Rifton that has been covered by the impounded waters was known as Rifton Glen, a narrow, uninhabitable strip of land between the Walkkill and a ledge of rock.

Rifton's population is said to have now reached an average of 500 and it supports three churches and two schools.

Norris Scores Harding Order

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 30.—Within an hour after it met today the senate was again plunged into series of bitter debates over the oil leasing scandals, started when Senator Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, charged that the leasing of Teapot Dome and Elk Hills reserves to the Standard Oil and Doheny interests were "made in utter disregard for law."

The executive order (issued by President Harding) transferring the reserves from the navy to the interior department was "absolutely and completely without authority and in open defiance of the law," declared Norris, while a packed chamber and thronged galleries hung on every word.

Schirick After Colonial Players

Expected That Bud Culloton and Rube Forsythe With Two Others Will Form Pitching Staff—Raskin, Dugan, Deegan, Robins and McHugh Others.

Judge Harry E. Schirick, who will have charge of the Kingston Colonials again this season, stated today that this week he expected to get in touch with Bud Culloton and Rube Forsythe to sign them up for the coming season. If both are secured the pitching staff will be strengthened with the addition of two other twirlers.

McHugh, who covered third base last season, is another man the judge is after. Judge Schirick stated that the Boston Red Sox and the St. Louis Nationals were both anxious to sign up McHugh, but an effort would be made to retain him in Kingston.

Other players who are expected to appear in the Colonial uniform this season are Deegan, Robins, Raskin and Dugan. Judge Schirick stated that it was expected that the Colonials would open the season in April or early in May with one of the strongest lineups in this section of the state.

The ball field at the Kingston Fair Grounds will be in better shape this season than it ever was. Considerable work was done on the field last fall and the outer gardens have been seeded and leveled.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

For the last times tonight at the Keeney Theatre will be shown "Porjolita." At the first two days' showings this picture pleased large audiences. Thursday, Friday and Saturday "Black Oxen" will be shown. Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle are featured in this picture. Costumes play a very important part in this production. Miss Griffith makes twenty-one complete changes of wardrobe.

At the Opera House tonight the regular country store will be held in conjunction with the last showing of the vaudeville program for the first part of the week and the feature picture, "Look Your Best." A new bill will be staged beginning Thursday.

At the Auditorium today, "The Village Blacksmith," is a splendid entertainment, well directed, with fine cast. William Walling plays the lead and the cast includes Tully Marshall, Virginia Valli, David Butler, George Haskethorne and Bessie Love.

The final showings of the Paramount picture, "The Silent Partner," which opened at the Orpheum Theatre Monday night, will take place this evening. Letatrice Joy, Owen Moore and Robert Edeson are the players portrayed. There is an exceptional vaudeville bill consisting of five acts. Tomorrow an all new show, six vaudeville acts and "Daughters of the Rich" as the feature picture.

FOR SALE
New 1924 Four-Door Ford Sedan, $695 for quick turnover.

Endeavors of County Banquet

help of God. It is also an age of groping everywhere; of problems that we are all trying without the guidance of precedent to solve as well as we can. And, while it is unspeakably sad it is also true that it is also true that it is an age of hate. With all the rest it is an immoral—not necessarily an immoral—age and an indifferent one, with no depth of interest in the profound things of life.

But the speaker said that there are some things in life which cannot go on forever. Something has got to happen, for the above-mentioned conditions cannot last always. Then he asked, "What about it?" Mr. Thompson quoted two definitions of the two great classes of human beings, the optimists and the pessimists. "A pessimist," was defined as "A man who wears his suspenders besides his belt," and an optimist as "The bar-tender who still pays his dues in the bar-keepers' union."

The speaker said he was no pessimist, but an optimist who believes that there is real work to be done; something to be accomplished and he was ready to take off his coat and go at it. The work would require sacrifice, perhaps to the last ounce of energy, to right the wrongs of today, and cheerfulness in the working was necessary, too. This is a time, according to Mr. Thompson when we must cultivate a spirit of toleration and try to get one another's point of view of life. If we do get to see the other man's point of view we will not criticize his actions so harshly as we often do now. Cooperation and toleration are two deep channels through which love must run to the refreshing and strengthening of the world of today. And we must get rid of hatred. Calling to mind Edith Cavell, whose death was the blackest blot on the German escutcheon, said as she went to her death, "Patriotism is not enough; there must be no hatred, no ill-will in our hearts toward anyone." Then we must have patience. Customs and traditions have been in forming and it is hard work, very hard work to break a habit, and that too, cannot be done without sacrifice. The speaker closed by telling his spell-bound audience that without self sacrifice we can ever get very far in helping God's world along, but that self-sacrifice and suffering are indeed worth while and to pay the price while it comes high, is glorious when done for Christ.

After singing "Blest be Thee that Binds," and repeating Mizpah together, the meeting broke up into groups of sociability for a short time before disbanding for the evening.

QUINN CHARGES BIG ANTI-BONUS SLUSH FUND

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, Jan. 30.—There was much discussion at the Capitol today regarding charges made here last night by John R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, that a $200,000 slush fund had been raised to defeat the soldiers' bonus measure in congress.

Quinn charged that the steel and coal interests of Pittsburgh and the New York Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association of New York city had contributed huge sums to the ex-service men's anti-bonus league to fight the federal bonus.

LEWIS WINS VICTORY IN MINERS' CONVENTION

By Telegram to The Freeman. Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 30.—Administration forces of the United Mine Workers led by President Lewis, and representing the conservative element of the organization, won a close victory today in the roll call on the question of shearing Lewis of his appointive power. The convention voted 2,263 to 2,106 to adopt the report of the committee on constitution which reported adversely on a resolution to elect field workers and organizers instead of appointing them. The roll call took six hours.

Brooklyn Plays Here Tonight

Brooklyn, winners of the first half race in the Metropolitan League, will be the attraction at the local court this evening. Brooklyn has not been going as strong as it was in the opening half, but still the team is looking for the honors again and will give a good account on any court. The visitors will in all probability lineup as follows: Banks, Brennan in front, Grimstead, center, with Cooney and Griebel in the backfield. In the Morgenweek lineup a new player may be seen, Danny McNichol, teamed with Soup Campbell in the guard positions. Tome may take the center position and C. Powers may take Jasta in front, or Artus may take Jward position and C. Powers Jura. The game will be called at the regular time with dancing following.

RICKARD WON'T PAY OVER $200,000 FOR FIRPO.

By Telegraph to The Freeman
New York, Jan. 30.—The latest development in the plans of the alleged syndicate to hold a Willis Firpo bout here next summer was said today to be the proposed construction of a sunken stadium, 2½ seat 125,000 persons. The structure, it was said, would be of concrete with only 25,000 seats above the level of the ground. Options have been obtained on several available sites for the stadium, it was declared.

Meanwhile, Tex Rickard again declined today to increase his bid of $200,000 for Firpo's services. The syndicate, headed by Lew Raymond, claims to have Firpo's acceptance of an offer of $250,000 with the privilege of 25 per cent of the net receipts.

Results in State League

Glens Falls conquered Cohoes at Glens Falls Tuesday night in the opening game of the series between these clubs. Amsterdam and Schenectady to determine the championship of the New York State Basketball League. The score was 35 to 30. The game was one of the fastest of the season, the winner being in doubt until the final whistle.

White, Schmeck and Cooney were the stars for the locals, the former scoring eleven points and the latter two making nine each. Benny Borgman excelled for the visitors, counting eighteen points on five field baskets and eight free throws.

YANKEE SKI ARTISTS WILL DO JUMPING ONLY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Chamonix, France, Jan. 30.—America's representatives in the Olympic ski events have withdrawn from the fifty kilometer race, scheduled for today, owing to a lack of training and preparation for such a test. They declared that they were saving themselves for the ski jumping events, in which they believed they had better chances of success.

"We are essentially jumpers," declared Anders Haugen, captain of the American team, in commenting on the withdrawal. "It would be foolhardy to attempt a long race in view of the fact that we have put on skis only once this year."

The Americans were united today in declaring the Chamonix ski jump one of the most dangerous in existence. This statement was made after a Swedish jumper had sustained a broken arm in attempting a landing.

Hang, of Norway, won the fifty kilometer ski race during the Olympic program today. The winner's time was 2 hours 4 minutes and 2 seconds.

England captured the final round of the curling event, defeating the French team by a score of 46 to 4.

Curious Color Changes.
All babies have blue eyes when they are born, physicians agree. In some infants pigment granules begin to develop in the iris immediately after birth, and thus they become black or brown-eyed. In others no such pigment formation takes place, and the eyes remain their original color throughout life. The possibility of an adult person's eyes changing their color as a result of mental shock or physical ill-treatment has been discussed by surgeons. "It is common knowledge," says one medical man, "that great hardships may suddenly turn the hair white. The loss of color follows on certain chemical changes, due to disturbances of nutrition, taking place in the tiny particles of coloring matter which gave the hair its tint."

Boxing Ready for Its Landis

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 30.—Another Landis, to lead the innocents of boxing into the promised land of prosperity and rectitude, would be as welcome as payday with Tex Rickard, according to a statement made by that worthy gentleman today. Among other things, Rickard declared himself to be figuratively arm in arm with Senator Jimmy Walker's proposition for a supreme head of all boxing in this country but disagreeing with the senator's statement that the game is "staggering on its last legs."

"I fail to see where boxing is in a bad way," Rickard declared. "There's nothing the matter with the game and everyone should know it. When has boxing been more prosperous and more carefully conducted? For one, I think there has been entirely too much hysteria about the need for reforms."

However, the promoter did not hesitate to say that this statement was not to be confounded with opposition to the Walker project. On the contrary, he declared that he believed it to be the most logical move that might be made in answer to the attacks of boxing's opponents.

"When baseball elected a high commissioner, it was very much in need of a man who could restore confidence and reflect credit upon that sport," he said. "It, therefore, went out after Judge Landis and got him. Since then, there hasn't been the faintest breath of suspicion against baseball and rightly so. If Landis never did anything else, he earned his salary by re-establishing the confidence of the public."

"But he has done more than that. In every way he has shown that he conducts the game with absolute fairness and impartiality and that he is for honesty of purpose and action at all times. He is a man before whom all disputes and controversies can be carried with every anticipation of obtaining redress."

"To say that boxing needs such a man is to commit a promise," Rickard added. "Every big national institution needs national supervision. Let them name such a man as Landis and I will be for him heart and soul."

"We, of course, would have to make it worth his while but what sport is in a better position to pay the price than is boxing? I know of half a dozen men, off-hand, who all every requirement. All boxing has to do is to interest them sufficiently and the rest will work out satisfactorily. In fact, one of these fine days the plan will begin to develop and then you will see everyone hurrying to line up behind the band wagon. It cannot come too soon."

MEXICAN FEDERALS TO MOVE ON TUXPAN REBELS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Tampico, Mex., Jan. 30.—Federal troops will be concentrated here from all northern Mexico for a concerted drive against the rebels in the southern part of the Tampico-Tuxpan oil fields, according to a statement from General Lorenzo Munoz, commandant of the local garrison today. It is believed that the campaign against the rebels in the Tuxpan region will be brief and successful.

The Tuxpan front has been inactive during the past 48 hours.

STRIBLING EASILY WINS DECISION FROM SHADE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Atlanta, Jan. 30.—Before a crowd of 8,000 people "Young" W. L. Stribling, Georgia light-heavyweight, won the decision in a ten round bout with Billy Shade, N. Y., here last night.

Stribling with his long reach and clever foot work was able to slug his opponent at almost any moment. By the end of the ten rounds he had the New York boy's face shredded and bathed in blood.

SIGNING UP A DUTCHESS BASEBALL TEAM.

Tivoli has dropped out of the proposed baseball combine that was to unite Tivoli, Red Hook and Rhinebeck, and Madalin has taken its place. A few days ago representatives of the three towns met for their fourth stag dinner at Red Hook and the reports of the various committees were turned in. John T. Hoffman, former manager of the old De Peyster club of Madalin, is slated to be manager of the combination and is assisted by several other men, and is engaged in building up a team that will be really a worth while one. Most of the players signed are members of the Red Hook team of last year. LeGrande Curtis, shortstop, Eddie Kelly, second baseman, "Oak" Cookingham, former outfielder with the Bridgeport Eastern Leaguers, and "Cub" Simmons, catcher, are the nucleus of the new team. Among the newcomers will be Don Murry, coach and athletic director of St. Stephen's College. Murry is an all-around athlete, having been at one time heavyweight boxing champion of the Western College Conference. For three years he was the pitching ace of the University of Wisconsin and it is on the mound he will appear for the Dutchess county team. Manager Hoffman is trying to get Simmons of Milbrook for the pitching staff, and also a chap who played on Cornell team last year in the infield is being sought to strengthen the three-town team.
